

Journalism is constantly evolving, and a good reporter needs to evolve with it. At Lynn, you'll gain a well-rounded education with technical training and practical experience in news, feature and social media reporting—all from our state-of-the-art facility.

About Lynn

Lynn University is one of the most innovative, international and individualized small universities in America. We are a young and forward-thinking organization located alongside South Florida's booming business centers and beautiful beaches, and we are focused on one thing: preparing students for success.

Our professors concentrate on the art of teaching—making good students great and great students remarkable.

Our award-winning, tablet-based learning initiative puts a transformational learning companion into the hands of students.

And our graduates? They've gained the intellectual flexibility and global experience to take the lead in an ever-changing world.

561-237-7900 | 1-800-888-5966

lynn.edu/comprograms

LYNN
UNIVERSITY

Be influential

Your audience is relying on you to provide the latest facts—and we will teach you to deliver.

COLLEGE OF INTERNATIONAL COMMUNICATION
Multimedia Journalism (B.A.)

Lynn University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, gender, religion, nationality, ethnic origin, disability and/or age in administration of its educational and admission policies, scholarship and loan programs, athletic and/or other school-administered programs.

Lynn University is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges to award baccalaureate, masters and doctorate degrees. Contact the Commission on Colleges at 1866 Southern Lane, Decatur, Georgia 30033-4097 or call 404-679-4500 for questions about the accreditation of Lynn University.

Enter the newsroom...

...and start off running. At Lynn, you'll start taking hands-on journalism courses as early as your first semester.

Your professors will be experienced professionals, who have worked in bullpen environments ranging from local newsrooms to nation-wide broadcasts, including ABC's 20/20 and CBS' 60 Minutes. With experience like that, we can promise that classes at Lynn aren't just about studying theory—you'll learn directly from experts in the field, hearing stories about real-world journalism.

You'll be challenged to maintain your morals in an ethical communications course—and you'll dig deep to expose government corruption and consumer fraud in your investigative journalism course. Courses in Internet media, digital layout, video editing, design and photojournalism will flesh out your portfolio of multimedia experience. And by working with the iPulse, our award-winning daily student newspaper and news website, you can add to your extensive experience with a portfolio full of clippings.

On assignment

Our faculty is determined to assist the next generation of reporters, writers and media executives. By earning a bachelor's in multimedia journalism from Lynn, you'll be qualified to accept such roles as:

- on-camera reporter/on-air personality
- multimedia journalist
- investigative reporter
- radio personality
- social media specialist

Taking commissions

Our alumni are doing incredible things with the journalism knowledge and experience they gained through this program. Our graduates have started careers with:

- CNBC Africa
- Beacon Communications, Rhode Island
- KATV Channel 7, Arkansas

Get the scoop

Award-winning professor and department chair Stefanie Powers is happy to answer any questions you may have about the multimedia journalism program at Lynn. Call or email her at 561-237-7427 or spowers@lynn.edu. (Ask about her extensive experience in journalism!)

Or reach out to our Office of Admission at:
admission@lynn.edu
561-237-7900
lynn.edu/admission

We are focused on one thing:
Preparing students for success.

Visit lynn.edu/comprograms

